How to login;

The screenshot shows the OneDep web interface. On the left, there is a login form with fields for 'Deposition ID' and 'Password', and buttons for 'Log in' and 'Forgot Pass'. Below the login form is a user profile section for 'Niwa, Satomi!' with an ORCID ID link and a 'Logout' button. A message prompts the user to verify their email address. At the bottom left, there is a 'Validation server' button and a link to 'validate.wwpdb.org'.

On the right, there is a 'Deposition list' table. A red box highlights the 'Deposition ID' column header, and a red arrow points to the first row of the table. The table contains the following data:

Deposition ID	Entry ID	Entry Title	Created	Site	Status	Last login

How to create a new session;

The screenshot displays the wwPDB OneDep system interface. At the top left, there is a user profile section with the URL <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-2648-8257> and a 'Logout' button. Below this is a 'Validation server' section with a link to valdate.wwpdb.org. A 'wwPDB regions' section features a world map. The main content area includes a table of existing sessions:

D_1300025895	2021/11/24	PDBJ	REL	2023/3/15
D_1300009047	2018/9/12	PDBJ	REL	2018/10/15

Below the table is a 'Start a new deposition' button. The main content area contains a welcome message and instructions:

Welcome to the wwPDB OneDep system!

To continue with an existing deposition, please login on the left. Please note that un-submitted sessions will expire 3 months after last login. Un-submitted sessions and uploaded files will be removed once they expire.

For requests such as entry release or citation updates, please login to the deposition system and send us a message through the communications section

If you have any other feedback, please write to us at deposit-help@mail.wwpdb.org
At this time this deposition system does not work with Internet Explorer versions 8 or less.

Warning: Please note that the current system does not support having multiple sessions open at the same time. To switch between existing sessions please log out using the "Log out" button in the bottom left corner of the opened deposition.

Please select the location of the institute of your PI.
This will automatically direct to the closest wwPDB data center (RCSB PDB/US, PDBe/UK, or PDBj/Japan) for faster response times for communication and computation.

Country/Region:

- A drop-down menu will appear to select your country/region
- Select your country/region and you will be redirected to the wwPDB member's deposition site (RCSB/PDBe/PDBj) corresponding to your location.

Privacy policy

Tick to indicate that you have read and accepted the wwPDB policy on personal data privacy, including what data wwPDB collects, how the data is stored and shared. www.wwpdb.org/about/privacy

- Fill the form (e-mail address, experimental method, etc.)
- The deposition password is auto-generated (Password will be sent by e-mail)
- Click “Start deposition”

How to create a session;

The screenshot shows the wwPDB user interface. A red box highlights the text "The new session has been created" with an arrow pointing to the first row of the summary table. The table lists deposition sessions with columns for Deposition ID, Entry ID, Entry Title, Created, Site, Status, and Last login.

Deposition ID	Entry ID	Entry Title	Created	Site	Status	Last login
D_1300036570	?	?	2023/3/27	PDBJ	DEP	2023/3/27
D_1300031483			2022/8/9	PDBJ	AUTH	2022/12/2
D_1300031482			2022/8/9	PDBJ	HPUB	2022/12/2
D_1300028946			2022/4/15	PDBJ	REL	2023/1/19

D_1300009047			2018/9/12	PDBJ	REL	2018/10/15

- A new session is then added to the summary table
- Access the deposition session by clicking the new session ID
- Now you can start the deposition

Caution!

- Adding a contact author ORCID in the “Admin > Contact information” will grant this author access to the current deposition
- Check new ORCIDs carefully when adding additional contact authors’ ORCIDs
